Course Description

This course is an introductory survey of film history. Looking at major developments, explains concepts, summarizes debates in film studies, defines technical terms, describes major periods and movements, and discusses historical situations. The emergence of new artistic media, subject matter, and strategies of making and viewing will be also discussed. Emphasis will be placed on the methods of interpreting the works, especially in relation to then-current social practices and cultural values.

Required Textbook(s)

A Short History of Film – 2nd Edition by Wheeler Winston Dixon (Author), Gwendolyn Audrey Foster (Author) Rutgers University Press

Grading Policy

This course is worth 100 points. Each student is responsible for demonstrating development and self-direction. Students are expected to attend all classes and complete all assigned work. Students are encouraged to set goals beyond those laid out in the syllabus. Absences beyond 4 class meetings will result in the course grade being lowered to the next lower letter for each additional absence. For example a course grade of B will be lowered to C/D/E after 4 absences and depending on the number of additional absences. You will be given qualitative feedback in addition to your number score. Letter grades correspond to your number score according to the following scale.

Grading Scale

The instructor will use the grading system as applied by JNU:

Definition	Letter Grade	Score
Excellent	A	90~100
Good	B	80~89
Satisfactory	C	70~79
Poor	D	60~69
Failed	E	Below 60

Attendance

Attendance is mandatory in the class. It would be recorded each class and forms part of students' participation record. Students should inform the instructor at the earliest opportunity if they need to ask for a leave. All absences may have negative effect on students' final grades. Any students with more than three unexcused absences will automatically fail the course.

Academic Integrity

As members of the Jinan University academic community, students are expected to be honest in all of their academic coursework and activities. Academic dishonesty, includes (but is not limited to) cheating on assignments or examinations; plagiarizing, i.e., misrepresenting as one's own work any work done by another; submitting the same paper, or a substantially similar paper, to meet the requirements of more than one course without the approval and consent of the instructors concerned; or sabotaging other students' work within these general definitions. Instructors, however, determine what constitutes academic misconduct in the courses they teach. Students found guilty of academic misconduct in any portion of the academic work face penalties that range from the lowering of their course grade to awarding a grade of E for the entire course.
