Course Description

Public speaking education as we know it today owes its core philosophy to the art of “rhetoric,” or the practical study of principles for influential public communication. A centerpiece of definitive education for thousands of years (most notably in classical Greece and Rome), and a core liberal art since the Renaissance, rhetoric is not just performing the mechanical skills and tactics of speaking well. It is a discipline of practical philosophy for understanding critical decision-making, assessment of diverse situations and people, and thoughtful application of first principles under contingent circumstances.

The practice of rhetoric through effective public speaking, thus defined, is not merely essential to effecting social influence through communication. It is crucial to the exercise of critical thinking and prudential judgment in public life, indispensable in a democratic society, and a core element of the human condition.

So, while this is an introductory course to Public Speaking and Communication, it will not be an easy course. While we will deliver a number of speeches, that’s not all we’ll do. We’ll study, discuss, and practice important theories and concepts of rhetorical communication, which is a subject of serious inquiry. And has been literally for millennia.

Introductory Discussion

For this assignment you will you write a brief introduction about yourself and introduce yourself to the class. In about 2 paragraphs you will tell us your name, age, where you are going to school, major, and career aspirations. Then, you will discuss some personal content about yourself such as interests, hobbies, likes/dislikes, where you are from and family. Finally, I would like for you to discuss why you are taking this class and what you hope to learn from it.

Informative Speech

For this speech, you will be in placed into groups of 5-10 students and will be researching an organization of your choice. You will prepare a PowerPoint presentation to accompany your speech. In your speech, you will discuss the background and history of the topic, current information, and any additional elements you consider noteworthy. Your speech requires sources, an outline, and should be 6-8 minutes in length. (Do NOT exceed the maximum time limit.)

After the presentation you will complete a reflection paper based on your thoughts on different parts of the speech, your participation and the group.

Persuasive Speech

For this speech you will be in groups of 5-10. As a group assignment, each group member is expected to do his/her part in researching, developing, and presenting the presentation which should be 8 to 10 minutes in length. (Do NOT exceed the maximum time limit.) Each group member will be required to present a section of the speech. Your speech must make a clear call to action, have a minimum of 4 sources, and build upon the experiences you had. Students are expected to dress professionally on the day of the presentation. There will be a required PowerPoint to be used during the presentation, an outline prior to the speech and a reflection after the speech.

In-Class Assignments

There will be in-class assignments throughout the course session. You must be in class to receive credit for these assignments.

- Outlines-Bullet point format discussion of all aspects of the speech. Must include sources in proper MLA format.
- PowerPoints-Minimum of 6 slides with sources, content, and photos must be used for the informative and persuasive speech.
- Reflections-This 1-2 page essay style paper will be completed after each presentation, where the student will assess their performance during various aspects of their speech.

FINAL GRADES

Failure to do a single speech, for any reason, will result in the loss of one letter grade. Failure to do two speeches, for any reason, will result in the student failing course, no matter what their current standing grade may be.

Your final grade will be based on the work you submit and exams. The level of effort you have expended, the urgency of your need to pass this course, the personal circumstances that burden you this term, and all other such considerations are not relevant.

Grading Scale

The instructor will use the grading system as applied by JNU:

Definition	Letter Grade	Score
Excellent	A	90~100
Good	B	80~89
Satisfactory	C	70~79
Poor	D	60~69
Failed	E	Below 60

Academic Integrity

As members of the Jinan University academic community, students are expected to be honest in all of their academic coursework and activities. Academic dishonesty includes (but is not limited to) cheating on assignments or examinations; plagiarizing, i.e., misrepresenting as one's own work any work done by another; submitting the same paper, or a substantially similar paper, to meet the requirements of more than one course without the approval and consent of the instructors concerned; or sabotaging other students' work within these general definitions. Instructors, however, determine what constitutes academic misconduct in the courses they teach. Students found guilty of academic misconduct in any portion of the academic work face penalties that range from the lowering of their course grade to awarding a grade of E for the entire course.

Potential Changes to Course Schedule

The following week-to-week schedule is a general plan for the course. Deviations may be necessary and will be announced in advance via announcement and/or e-mail. Students should check their course site announcements and emails at least once every twenty-four hours throughout the term to watch for updates regarding this course.
