Course Description

This course provides an opportunity for student to discover the realities of organizations in contemporary situation, emphasizing the functional approach; understanding the managerial environment: Knowledge required evaluating organizations effectively and adjusting to the rapid changes in the global managerial world.

Required Textbook(s)

Organizational Behavior, 13th Edition, Mary Uhl-Bien, John R. Schermerhorn, Jr., Richard N. Osborn, ISBN – 9781118517376, John Wiley & Sons, Inc.

Course Hours

The course has 25 sessions in total. Each class session is 120 minutes in length. The course meets from Monday to Friday.

Course learning objectives

1. Terminology

Students should learn to understand and use the language and terminology used in academia regarding organizations. In addition to the language, students will learn various management concepts that are helpful in managing and developing organizations. To some extent, students learn to apply those concepts.

2. Theory

Students should learn various organizational concepts and theories such as leadership, motivation, organization design, strategic management, and change management. By the end of this course, students will know how to deal with problems in designing and structuring organizations, providing for appropriate controls in organizations, and in helping organizations to grow and change with the environment. In some cases, students learn how to apply those theories.

3. Attitude

Students should finish the course with a realistic attitude towards organizations. For example, students may find out that business and management is not inherently unethical. On the other hand, the course will not try to convince students that firms are great humanitarian or democratic institutions, either. Thus, this course is also meant to shape the attitudes of students towards business.

4. Teamwork

Students should have the opportunity to work in teams and gain experience in teamwork and cooperation. Most businesses now manage their work using teams and this course will set students on the right track to learning about teamwork. When students search for a job, most employers will ask about teamwork experiences. This course will provide in-Class team exposure.

5. Writing & Analysis

Students will complete some case analysis and write reports for case analyses. These cases are designed to improve writing skills by learning to write a concise analysis of management cases. This also involves an analytical component. Both writing and analysis should prepare students for higher level classes.

6. Internet

Students need to further develop internet skills to identify various resources available for organizations and to use them in enhancing decision-making and analytical skills.

Attendance

Attendance is mandatory in the class. It would be recorded each class and forms part of students' participation record. Students should inform the instructor at the earliest opportunity if they need to ask for a leave. All absences may have negative effect on students' final grades. Any students with more than three unexcused absences will automatically fail the course.

Academic Integrity

As members of the Jinan University academic community, students are expected to be honest in all of their academic coursework and activities. Academic dishonesty, includes (but is not limited to) cheating on assignments or examinations; plagiarizing, i.e., misrepresenting as one's own work any work done by another; submitting the same paper, or a substantially similar paper, to meet the requirements of more than one course without the approval and consent of the instructors concerned; or sabotaging other students' work within these general definitions. Instructors, however, determine what constitutes academic misconduct in the courses they teach. Students found guilty of academic misconduct in any portion of the academic work face penalties that range from the lowering of their course grade to awarding a grade of E for the entire course.
